The City Purchasing Agent was authorized to obtain bids for 1200 feet of 21/2-inch fire hose and 200 feet of 11/2-inch. A resolution was adopted authorizing the Mayor and Clerk to sign the deeds to the Los Angeles Flood Control for the lands needed for the Bailey debris basin.

Classes Reopened in Emergency Medical Field and Home

Class work of the Emergency Medical Corps, both Field and Home Unit is being reopened. The first meeting will be December 12th at the Congregational church and meeting thereafter on the second Tuesday of each month, ten-thirty to twelve. After some persuasion Dr. Heagerty agreed to direct the class work and we do indeed feel grateful and fortunate. This emergency training is well worth the time given. Let us have a good class and remember what we may have forgotten. Practice makes perfect.

Newspaper Lore By W. R. Humphries at Woman's Club

Speaking before the Sierra Madre Woman's club Wednesday, W. R. Humphries produced proof that such perplexities as the draft for youth of 18, the vast idle gold thought to endanger our economy and a ruthless military violation of Poland by Germany are nothing new. The Christmas Seals are Needed

Christmas Seal time is here again . This heartwarming practice of buying cheery little seals to help combat tuberculosis, began just forty years ago and has since become a world-wide tradition. The Christmas Seals are sold in 46 countries. This year, as usual, they make their appearance. In a war-torn world they are reassuring reminders that we live in a civilized world after all and humanity a streak of goodness in it that will not be

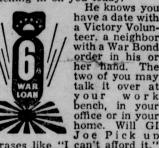

This year, as never before, the Christmas Seals are needed. Tuberculosis is on the increase. The steady progress of medical science in the treatment of the disease has not been sufficent to stem the debilitating inroads of war. Our crowded war production centers, overwork and nervous exhaustion have been an open invitation to tubercu-losis. The great tragedy is that too many persons don't realize it when the unwelcome guest has found its way into their homes

Yes, the Christmas Seal has new significance this year. It is one means by which all of us can take part in the fight against the renewed threat of man's ancient enemy—the white plague.

Local Man Helps to Build Breakwater for Invasion Beach

Giant concrete breakwaters built in England by United States Army Engineers were floated across the Channel shortly after D-Day to wall in the harbors improvised at the Normandy beach-heads, it has been revealed at Headquarters,

The artificial harbors made possible the Allied successes in the Battle of France by solving one of the most important problems of supply. Through them a greater tonnage was hauled over the beaches than could have been unloaded in almost any of the great Continental ports.
For months before D-Day, the Engineer soldiers worked in secret on a round-the-clock schedule, pouring concrete into vast steel ribs to form the floating breakwaters. Finally the barges were pulled from the Thames Estuary town into the channel.

Looking like floating apartment houses, they were towed across to the shores of France. Water-tight Claude W. Hippler, Director of compartments responsible for their

Roast Chicken in a Bag

Prepare chicken for roasting in the usual manner, using any dressing you prefer. Have chicken thoroughly dry. Get an ordinary paper bag, large size, put chicken in and tie the mouth of the bag firmly shut with string. Put in a roaster in a preheated oven and cook at 315 for four hours. Do not open the bag to look at the chicken while cooking. When finished open bag and pour juices for gravy into a pan.

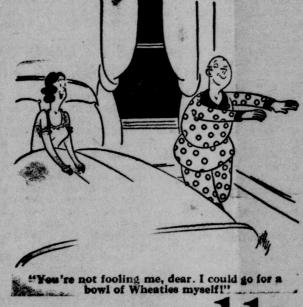

Potato Pancakes

4 large potatoes

1 bud garlic

1 onion 1 egg Peel potatoes, onion and garlic. Put them all through a meat grinder. Add egg and mix thoroughly. Have iron skillet hot and about 1/8 inch melted shortening in bottom. Spread potato pancake batter very thin over whole skillet. Turn fire down low and let cook until golden brown. This takes longer than you will expect it to. Turn and brown other side. This serves six.

ANOTHER ONE FROM ROBERTS MARKET

WELL, FOLKS!

AFTER LAST WEEK'S Thanksgiving rush with all its problems of trying to provide you with the essentials for your holiday dinner, that is, turkeys, cranberries, mince meat, cider and the other trimmings, our advertising mind is a blank!

THE FACT IS, that man Bruce McGill, who has his finger in almost every worth-while thing in our village, just paid us a visit and when he got through, we felt like a can of day-old angle worms.

HE SAID, "By golly (or something like that), the Red Cross needs blood; and you guys are not doing your part. A lot of people have given blood time and time again, but too darn many have given none at all! Even if you are unable to donate because of age or physical condition, then by golly (it sounded like that), it's your duty to get one or two other guys to take your place!"

WELL, WE KNOW he is right. And because we know this, we are going to put our shoulder to the wheel and try to do something about it. So here is our start:

You and I, men, women, let us offer up our prayers to God that He will keep faith with our dear ones over there—that He'll bring them back soon with victory and with an enduring peace. God bless you all. Rabbi Barnett R. Brickner

Generosity

The following appeared in Leeside, Lee Shippey's column in the Los Angeles Times, a few days ago:
"We can all be thankful for the spirit of generosity that is in the air. Last week this column told that Mrs. Florence McCarthy's guide dog had got rables and had to be killed and she couldn't get a job until she got another one. Robert Bruce McGill of Sierra Madre sent to the Sierra Madre News with that clipping a check for $100 to start a fund, but the La Crescenta Woman's Club of Montrose was ahead of him, and Mrs. McCarthy now has her dog. However, Dr. Clyde Wilson, blind physician, knew another blind man who had about half of what he needed to buy a dog and take the trip back east to train with it, and it looks as if he too will have his guide dog soon."

Bonds For Victory

Neither the armchair generals among us nor the military men whose business is war can tell at just what point on which day the battles in Europe and the Pacific will end. Conceivably, the Germans could capitulate before this editorial goes to press, or the Japs could come out in the open with peace feelers. But until the day arrives when our troops are back on home soil again, their days and nights of horror and bloodshed behind them, we have duties to perform fully as important, if not as dangerous, as theirs. Until then we must continue to put into the hands of our fighting men the tools that Goering today is telling the German people mark the "sole reason our iron-willed forces are being pushed back."

Sixth War Loan drive, launched Monday November 20, will furnish funds for the needed weapons, the ships and planes, the ammunition, transportation, food and supplies in stupendous quantity to speed the war to victorious conclusion. War bonds are receipts for interest-bearing loans—not gifts. But if they did represent outright contributions to the war effort, the money would be well spent indeed. From General Dwight Eisenhower himself comes this anneal.

well spent indeed. From General Dwight Eisenhower himself comes this appeal:

"The fighting man still faces a grim task and he urgently needs your help. War funds must be raised and our men on all fronts depend on you. On behalf of your sons, brothers, husbands and friends in the great war theaters I request that you do your part to see that the Sixth War Loan drive is vastly oversubscribed."

No plea could be more eloquent than that. The

No plea could be more eloquent than that. The Allied supreme commander speaks for our own loved ones on the fighting fronts, and the appeal must reach our purses as well as our hearts.

If We Were in His Place

In this issue of the News is a page advertisement from the pen of Bruce McGill, published in an effort to wake up some of the people in Sierra Madre to their responsibilities in the support of the coming Blood Bank December 6.

In September, Sierra Madre failed to reach the quota of 175 pints of blood, there being only 145, due largely to the failure of many who had signed up to appear. For the previous Bank we had to call on 40 service boys at Santa Anita to make up the quota.

The Mobile Blood Bank cannot spend the time of the Unit and the physicians and nurses for less than the full quota.

This is a sad showing for the patriotism of "Our Town". We are only asked to GIVE our blood, which is painless and harmless. The boy beautiful as the same of the sa you are giving it for, is suffering untold agonies in LOSING HIS BLOOD.

One of the strongest cartoons we have ever seen was one showing the enemy storming the outskirts of one of our home cities, our boys standing with their blazing guns between us and the enemy, with the war workers behind feverishly working to produce and hand out the necessary guns and ammunition. They were not quitting work after eight hours nor striking for some fancied grievance. And yet our boys are just as surely standing between us and the enemy as tho they were at the gates of Sierra Madre itself. In a situation like that, surely more than 145 out of a population of nearly 6000 would be volunteering, yes struggling to give their blood to the boys who were doing their fighting for them.

U-Boat Ride

The custom of taking victims for a ride, it appears, is not confined after all to American gangsters. In Germany plans are officially in the making to take King Leopold of Belgium and other prominent prisoners on a U-Boat ride to Japan, as hostages for German war criminals who may fall into Allied hands.

At least that is the report out of Stockholm, in a dispatch assertedly based on a story printed in Herman Goering's own newspaper, the Essener National Zeitung.

Under the plan, if any Nazi leader is sentenced to death by Allied war-criminal courts, a hostage will pay the same price simultaneously in Germany or Japan. The story said the Germans believe they have a sufficient number of captive British, French, Russian and other Allied leaders to counterbalance the number of Nazis likely to be accused of atrocities.

Fantastically ugly as the plan sounds, it must be remembered that Nazis are fantastic people. Few people placed any credence in Hitler's Mein Kampf, in which the Nazi leader clearly outlined to the world his murderous purpose. Yet the claims, the predictions and the threats of Mein Kampf almost came true. Had it not been for the early, stubborn resistance of the British, the Nazi tide might have engulfed the civilized world before the United States woke to the danger. Nothing is too desperate or fantastic for gang-sters, national or international, and the U-Boat ride actually may be in prospect. But Hitler and his gang certainly will not escape just retribution by fleeing to Japan with or without hostages. American forces are on the road to Tokyo now, and although Hitler may get there first, United States troops will not be far behind.

Here

by A. G. H. Bode

T Cuddesdon College we were within easy reach of Oxford Colleges with their perfect music. We could say with Milton:
"Let my due feet never fail
To walk the studious cloisters' pale,

And love the high embow-ed roof
With antique pillars massy proof,
And storied windows richly dight,
Casting a dim religious light.
There let the pealing organ blow
To the full-voiced choir below,
In service high and anthems clear

As may with sweetness, through mine ear,
Dissolve me into ecstacies,
And bring all Heaven before mine eyes."
A friend has just told me of his being moved to tears when hearing the singing of the choirboys and men in Christ Church, Oxford.

NE of my duties was to teach the men to sing or intone their part in the traditional choral service which has been sung daily for centuries, week days as well as Sundays, in the great cathedrals, and many of the churches throughout Britain. Musical men with fine voices were chosen for the Cathedrals and called Presenters and Minor Canara Put centors and Minor Canons. But any young clergyman might be required to sing his part, if possible, in a village church. I showed an unmusical man how in a tune a note went up here, and went down there, and he answered: "I don't see any appreciable difference." But with time and patience he was taught to take a simple part cor-

Near the College was the old massive stone church of the village, where we took turns in reading, and sang with the choir. Right opposite the college was the ancient palace of the Bishops of Oxford, from which a garden path led to the church. Often William Stubbs, the Bishop, would come to services in the Church. As there might be a shower, the Bishop often would be seen walking up the aisle to his throne, in his robes and scarlet doctor's hood, carrying a large black umbrella. Like many another Oxford man, his enormous learning was coupled with great sim-

The college chapel was adorned with murals and painted windows, and my organ was placed in a gallery at the back. When practising I had a boy named Mortimer to blow for me. The first time, after two hours blowing, I offered him what was about the usual pay, sixpense (typelye cents) was about the usual pay—sixpence (twelve cents) an hour, but he said: "Oh no, I am paid four pence (8 cents) an hour." An example of what I found over and over in England,—the meticulous, trustworthy, conscientious honesty of the respect-

One afternoon, taking a walk across the fields One afternoon, taking a walk across the fields I came upon a crowd of poor agricultural laborers surrounding a speaker who stood on a vehicle, addressing them from what they call "the cart's tail." The lot of these men was miserable. Two and a half dollars a week was the prevailing wage, a damp airless room at the back of a thatched cottage, or a tort of cubby hole in a wall, or a corner in a barn was his domicile, and often out of his two and a half dollars a week he paid twenty-five cents a week for his dwelling.

Many married farm laborers lived under degrading conditions in least that the cottages, with insufficient food cases the conditions to the conditions of the c room for the whole family, and no ventilation except leaks and cracks. Apparently nice people saw nothing wrong in it-

The speaker spoke of these conditions and of Joseph Arch, a laborer like themselves, whom they wished to elect to parliament, to do what he could to help; and quoted from the Bible: "What mean ye that ye grind the faces of the poor? saith the Lord." Just then a young gentleman, who was standing by, interrupted with: "There's no such verse in the Bible." The speaker said: "Has anyone here got a Bible?" To my surprise a laborer had a Bible with him. The speaker turned to the third chapter of Isaiah and showed the words.

Returning to the College I spoke of the meeting to the Principal, who told me I must keep away from such meetings. This was typical of the feeling of nice people at that time. They had a great dread of any "lower class" activity. Some even thought there ought always to be poor so that others could practise charity a virtue which that others could practise charity, a virtue which that others could practise charity, a virtue which would otherwise die out. These poor laborers stood, at "Martinmas," or St. Martin's day, in the market place, just like the laborers in the Bible story, to be looked over by farmer and squire, and hired for the year, accepting conditions as they were, or else rejected and left to charity. Most of the clergy, misled by a false political economy, which forbade interference and was considered at that time to be Science and not to be sidered at that time to be Science and not to be questioned, preached against discontent; and contentment, as Cheyney said, was the virtue regular-ly inculcated on the "lower classes." In the hymn books of that time you would find:

'The rich man in his castle, The poor man at his gate, God made them high and lowly, And ordered their estate."

These words have since been omitted.

And here Joseph Arch, the subject of the meeting in the fields, comes in. I think now it would have done all the students good to have listened to him. You will not find our professors' names in the Encyclopaedias, but you will find Arch's name and career in all the principal ones, including the Columbia, the Century, the Britannica, that of the Social Science, that of National Biography.

Laborer's son, self-educated, local preacher of the Methodists (like most labor members of Par-liament,) shocked at the miseries of the agricultural laborers, founder of a national union for them, against the opposition of farmers and landed them, against the opposition of farmers and landed gentry; "objecting to the social homage expected by those whom the catechism boldly called his betters," he had studiously prepared himself, and was elected to parliament, one of the first of the labor members. Through his efforts the miserable wages of rural workers were raised and, after hundreds of years, agricultural laborers were given the vote—a change from aristograpy to given the vote,—a change from aristocracy to democracy. We are told that "deservedly he was much respected in the House of Commons." And his Life, in a large volume, was edited by the Countess of Warwick. Of course he was at first called a radical and an agitator. But in spite of the prevailing fear of laborers' agitation, there were some fair-minded people like Lord Napier the prevailing fear of laborers' agitation, there were some fair-minded people like Lord Napier, who said: "There is no agitator except injustice." And if anyone today has the courage to look into volume one of the work called "Capital" he will not find there anything about revolution, but a most "pitiful and compassionate document," compiled from the reports of doctors and others, of such miseries and injustices as led to that meeting in the field. And though the author's proposed cure was not the right one, the volume shows what impelled Arch and others and lastly Beveridge to work for something better. Beveridge to work for something better.

A SOLDIER'S FAREWELL

The following poem was brought to the News office by Mrs. Emile Smith. It was written by a soldier in Sicily and was found among his possessions after he had been killed in Action:

Look, God, I have never spoken to You But now I want to say "How do You Do";
You see, God, they told me You didn't exist,
And like a fool, I believed all this.

Last night from a shell hole, I saw Your sky,
I figured then, they had told me a lie;
Had I taken time to see things You made,
I'd have known they weren't calling a space I'd have known they weren't calling a spade a spade.

I wonder, God, if You'd shake my hand,
Somehow I feel that You will understand;
Funny, I had to come to this hellish place
Before I had time to see Your face. Well, I guess there isn't much more to say,

But I'm sure glad, God, I met You today;
I guess the 'zero hour' will soon be here,

Look now, this will be a horrible fight-Who knows, I may come to Your house tonight, Though I wasn't friendly to You before,

I wonder, God, if You'd wait at Your door;

Look! I'm crying—me, shedding tears!

I wish I had known You these many years.

Well . . I have to go now God . . . goodby!

Strange, since I met You, I'm not afraid to die!

good deed. The comedy, the company, the author and the producer have all But I'm not afraid since I know You're near. The signal—well, God, I'll have to go
I like You lots, this I want You to know:

Kiss and Tell" Coming to Biltmore Theatre, Dec. 4

George Abbott's cavalcade of laughs, "Kiss and Tell" with Lila Lee, Walter Gilbert and June Dayton in the featured roles, returns to Los Angeles playing at the Biltmore Theatre beginning Monday evening, December 4, for two weeks only.

This scintillating comedy, written by F. Hugh Herbert, staged and directed by Mr. Abbott, is definitely the funniest show of many a season, it's an all-out, all-over, all-in-together-girls hit and in a world of woe, it shines like a gay, good deed.

been greeted with unanimous praise by critics and public alike wherever "Kiss and Tell" has ap-peared. This frolicsome piece has been delighting audiences in four separate parts of these United States and is still playing in New York, at the Biltmore Theatre, and in Chicago at the Harris.
This comedy is just as much fun for Aunt Minnie, Aunt Susie, Bob or Mary, as it is fun for Pop and Mom, or their cousins; in fact, everyone 9 to 90 years

87 times straight - I've been lucky!

87 times I've gone out—and come back.

When your score gets that high, they usually let you quit for a while. But sometimes that isn't possible. You just have to keep on going—perhaps till your number is up.

Out here, you get to understand those things. There's no question of quitting—no matter how much you've done.

Back home, it's the same way about buying War Bonds. You feel good when you count up and realize what a high score you've got. You feel you deserve a rest, too.

But the war isn't over yet. And until it is, I'll make a bargain with you: You keep on buying, and I'll keeponfighting till the last Jap drops!

The 6th War Loan is on. And it's every American's duty to invest in at least one extra $100 War Bond. If you haven't bought yours yet, Buy at least one extra $100 War Bond Today!

This is an official U. S. Treasury advertisement-prepared under auspices of Treasury Dept. and War Advertising Council.

Merry Christmas To The Japanese!

Re-locating the Japs on the West Coast has suddenly become very important to a great many citizens of Sierra Madre and near-by communities. A four-page pamphlet is being sent thru the mail urging fair play for the Japanese. Upon investigation I find that there is quite anorganization behind this "Brotherly Love" proposition.

This four-page pamphlet places great emphasis on the fact that 11,000 Nisei have made a brilliant combat record. With this I am in complete agreement. 800 Japanese are now re-located on the Pacific Coast, with more coming. Dr. Robert A. Millikan, says [and I quote him!] "Anybody who makes the statement that 'a Jap is a Jap' is either a thoroughly unscientific or a thoroughly uneducated person."

A strong emotional appeal is made for Christmas presents for the dear, sweet Japanese. Fancy wrapping paper and bright colored ribbon are needed. Gifts of money are very acceptable. Naturally no request was made for cigarettes as they have plenty, – nor were WAR BONDS suggested.

I hope that all of the good people who are so full of the love of fair play that they are worried about the Japs, will also be so deeply concerned about fair play for OUR OWN WOUNDED SOLDIERS that they will all go to the Blood Bank December 6th and give a pint of their blood.

I hope that these same kind souls who want the Japs back on the West Coast will remember on December 6th that a pint of their blood will bring a wounded AMERICAN BOY back to the West Coast.

I hope that these loving citizens of "Our Town" who send Christmas presents to the Japs will not forget on December 6th that the finest Christmas Present they can give this year is a pint of their blood to a wounded American Soldier.

Realizing that I may be considered to be a "thoroughly unscientific or a thoroughly uneducated person" I, as one of the too few citizens of Sierra Madre who have given a gallon of blood, subscribe whole-heartedly to the GI Joe's statement, [may I quote again?] "THE ONLY GOOD JAP IS A DEAD JAP."

In September the Blood Bank failed to make its quota in Sierra Madre. Maybe if the Red Cross wanted blood for the Japs at Camp Manzanar or Tule Lake we would have made a better showing. Apparently many people feel that fair play for the Japs is terribly important just now. Well, after all a pint of blood may be only the difference between life and death for a wounded American soldier.

You Citizens of Sierra Madre who are not able to give blood because of age limit or for physical reasons HAVE A JOB TO DO, and so help me — YOU'RE NOT DO-ING IT!

Your job is to see to it that somebody goes to the Blood Bank in your place, — or DON'T YOU GIVE A DAMN?

Our trouble is that we have too many people who are too busy worrying about Christmas Presents for the dear sweet Japs! TO HELL WITH THE JAPS! WE ARE STILL AT WAR.

How about some REAL brotherly love and some REAL fair play for OUR OWN FIGHTING MEN, with some REAL American blood in it.

You have a job to do — DO IT!

Give Blood This Christmas --- Send It Air Mail To A Wounded American Soldier.

Let's Go Over The Top DECEMBER 6th.

That Offers More Than

CAFETY is the basic requirement of any sound investment. Only with a guarantee of safety can you enjoy the assurance of earnings. That is why share certificates issued by the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Pasadena are attracting more and more careful investors. Purchased in units of $100 or more, these certificates begin producing earnings at once. The rate of return is declared every six months, with dividend checks being mailed to each investor every December 31 and June 30. Each investment account is Federally insured up to $5,000. Ample cash reserves guarantee prompt withdrawal privileges when emergencies demand ready cash. These features make our share certificates a safe and convenient high-yield savings and investment opportunity. Come in for complete details, or open your account by mail.
